

Strata Owner Feels the Need to Shoot

Should anyone who turns up to a strata meeting with a gun in their pocket be banned from ever living in a community scheme?

For those of us who have been involved in strata for a while, it's only a matter of time when a strata meeting will turn ugly.

You're usually dealing with some very volatile elements in any given strata scheme – it's about people's rights and responsibilities. There are people for whom the right to do what they want in the home that they own, goes without saying – which is rarely the right fit with a lifestyle that depends on a sense of community such as strata living.

Logic and reason can be quickly forgotten as recently seen in the news where an elderly Sydney man was involved in the shooting of his building manager during a bitter strata meeting.
